

About Us

Reporting to no one but clients since 1902.

Founded in 1902, Washington Trust Bank remains proudly independent. For more than 100 years, we have been focused on long-term client relationships. We dedicate our strengths as an independent regional bank to serving clients who understand the value of an established banking relationship and who seek out tailored financial products and services. That heritage and mission remains clear today: We will be the best at understanding and meeting the financial needs of our customers.

Our freedom from Wall Street ensures our ability to focus on our clients, and no one but our clients. Coupled with sound business practices, innovation, knowledge and expertise, this independence has seen us through the best and most challenging of economic cycles. At the same time, we have grown our portfolio of commercial and private banking, along with small business, personal banking, and Wealth Management & Advisory services.

Washington Trust Bank's longevity and success are a testament to our unwavering commitment to our clients.

Our timeless approach puts you at the center of everything.

Growing a successful business takes a clear strategy, talented people and a bank you can trust. Whether you're looking for flexible financing, sophisticated cash management or a simple line of credit, count on Washington Trust Bank to deliver local, responsive, hands-on service.

We are small enough to have an intimate understanding of our customers, our communities and their specialized requirements. But we are large enough to provide all of the traditional financial products and services our customers need, including a full range of products for commercial banking, cash management and private banking, and technology-based financial tools.

Supporting what matters in the communities we call home.

At Washington Trust Bank, we understand that it is the well-being of our communities that allows us to be successful, and we believe it is our responsibility to help foster growth within the communities we serve throughout the Pacific Northwest. In addition to focusing on building businesses that drive our local economies, we make meaningful contributions through financial support and thousands of volunteer hours donated annually by our staff to area nonprofit organizations. A true community spirit is at the core of Washington Trust Bank's values, and we are dedicated to supporting our neighbors as we continue to grow.
